Luxair partners with BioneXt to guarantee PCR testing over the holidays

Several countries such as Spain and Italy require passengers to have a negative PCR test in order to enter their territory.

Aware of the difficulties in finding available test centres, Luxair and the BioneXt Laboratory have found a solution to ensure that Luxair and LuxairTours passengers can carry out their PCR test on time.

In this way, Luxair wants to allow all its customers to be reunited with their families and loved ones in complete peace of mind and in the best conditions for the festive season.

This program is exclusively reserved for all passengers travelling on direct Luxair and LuxairTours flights to Spain, Italy, Madeira in Portugal (tests on arrival are still possible) and Copenhagen in Denmark between 18 December and 6 January 2021 included. Testing will take place exclusively at the BioneXt Laboratory site located at 12 rue Léon Laval in Leudelange, Luxembourg. The price of the test, to be paid on site, is 58.49€ per person.

Customers who have booked a Luxair flight or a LuxairTours package will be able to register on a dedicated website. To do so, they will receive a message once they have made their reservation.

BioneXt will then send a voucher via e-mail to the customer with an appointment date which will take into account the time required for the validity of the tests upon arrival in the country concerned.

Registration must be made at least 5 working days before the departure date and within the limit of available slots.
