CITY TOURS

Tourist Organization of Belgrade

City of Culture, Inspiration, Sports and Festivals, Serbian capital is an exciting mixture of rich and diverse history, architecture and urban spirit. With some of the most attractive locations, Belgrade Fortress - the oldest cultural and historical monument, Skadarlija -bohemian quarter in the city center, Knez Mihailova Street; Old and New Palace, Federal Parliament, Temple of St. Sava, Zemun and many others, Belgrade makes the cultural center of South East Europe.

Eclectic in the architecture testifies about its rich historical heritage which can be seen on every step, while diverse event calendar makes Serbian Capital a true metropolis in this part of Europe. Central city area reveals some of the most recognizable attractions: from the Republic Square, along the Knez Mihailova Street to the Belgrade Fortress, where the viewpoint to the Confluence of Danube and Sava will take your breath away. Magnificent Temple of Saint Sava dominates at the sophisticated area of Vracar, Dorcol is known for true local experience, while Savamala represents an urban quart and hub for contemporary arts and design. Crossing the bridge over Sava, one enters a completely different world of New Belgrade and Zemun.

The Republic Square is literally the epicenter of the city, being surrounded by the National Theatre and National Museum, but it is best known for the statue of Prince Mihailo on the horse, which is the most popular meeting place of Belgradians. Knez Mihailova Street is the pedestrian area that unifies the beautiful architecture, and leads towards the Belgrade Fortress and Kalemegdan Park, while on the other way leads to Terazije, and famous Terazijska česma, drinking fountain in front of the Hotel Moskva, which is a great lookout point to the Sava river valley. The Belgrade Fortress and the Kalemegdan Park together represent a cultural monument of exceptional importance and an open-air museum of Belgrade history. The fortress overlooks the confluence of the Sava river into the Danube and that very spot, next to the statue Pobednik (The Victor), is probably the most beautiful lookout in Belgrade.

Belgrade is also the starting point for exploration of some of Serbia's beautiful monasteries, wineries, farmhouse restaurants, etno villages, spas, wildlife reserves, natural beauty, and archaeological sites.

Open-top bus sightseeing tour

Panoramic sightseeing of Belgrade lasts around 70 min and although it is a seasonal tour it represents one of the most common and comfortable options of getting to know the city. Tour departures every day from Square of Nikola Pasic, in front of the City Parliament after which the bus passes by the most important locations including the New Belgrade part of the city. Audio guide, for now, is available in eight languages: Serbian, English, French, German, Russian, Turkish, Italian and Greek.

Sightseeing river cruise

Sightseeing cruise on the Danube and Sava rivers lasts around 90 minutes during which you will get the close look passing by interesting and grandiose bridges in Belgrade: Pancevo bridge, Gazela bridge, Old Railway bridge, New Railway bridge, and Ada bridge. You will get to see the "Happy bouy", as well, known as the magical place where not only the two rivers are connecting, but more than 120 their tributaries, and where you should make a wish. There are two restrictions while making a wish: you should not wish an unrealistic wish because unrealistic wishes create neurosis and you should not make two wishes, because greedy wishes do not come true.

The Royal Palace

The Royal Palace was built between 1924 and 1929 by orders of King Alexander I, as the official royal residence. It is designed in the Serbian-Byzantine style, surrounded by pergolas, park terraces, pools, a pavilion, and a concert terrace. Located on the ridge of a hill, it provides a magnificent view of Dedinje, the Košutnjak forest, Topčider, and Avala.

Within the same complex, a residence for sons of King Alexander I had been built and named the White Palace. Its salons are arranged in the styles of Louis XV and Louis XVI and it contains a valuable art collection including notable artworks by Rembrandt, Fromentin, Vouet, Poussin, Bourdau, Jakšić, Meštrović and many others. It also contains the Royal Library that once housed around 35,000 books and the Ceremonial Dining Hall set up in the Chippendale style.

The palace complex also contains the Royal Family Church modeled after the Church of the Monastery of St. Andrew on Treska in Macedonia. Palaces are open for visits on weekends and Wednesday, during the tourist season, as it is a home of His Royal Highness Crown Prince Alexander of Serbia and his family.

Belgrade Fortress

The life at the ridge over the confluence of the Sava and Danube has lasted for over two millennia. The core of today's two million agglomerations is the Belgrade Fortress and the Kalemegdan Park. They form a unique spatial entity with clearly visible remains of the Fortress divided into Upper and Lower Town, with two distinct styles - elements of medieval architecture combined with dominant baroque solutions typical for the 18th century.

The Kalemegdan Park, Large and Little, developed in the area that once was the town field, are the place for rest and joy. The Belgrade Fortress and the Kalemegdan Park together represent a cultural monument of exceptional importance, the area where various sport, cultural and arts events take place, and are fun and joy for all generations of Belgraders and numerous visitors of the city.

Victor Monument

In 1928 famous artist Ivan Meštrović designed a sculpture to be set up as part of the drinking fountain on Terazije, but the public was against having a nude male figure set up in the city centre. After World War I the project was cancelled and thus the Victor was set up on Kalemegdan since then represents the most popular landmark in Belgrade. Plato next to the monument is among most crowded places in the city, where visitors love to make photos and enjoy the view to New Belgrade and Zemun.

Belgrade Rivers: Danube and Sava

Situated on the confluence of two international rivers, Danube and Sava, Belgrade offers great opportunities for river cruising. The Confluence itself represents one of the most attractive places in the city, just below the Belgrade Fortress, and right next to the Big War Island, an oasis of untouched nature. River banks never sleep: on numerous floating restaurants and clubs, visitors can enjoy the view, fish specialties, and local beverages.

Skadarlija - Bohemian Quarter

Skadarlija is an old bohemian quarter of Belgrade, which is vibrant and live 24/7. It arose during the 19th century, with a large number of inns (called "kafana"), and since then, has been a gathering spot of the most renowned personalities in Belgrade. It is frequently compared to the Montmartre of Paris - both in appearance, and atmosphere. In all the inns, a visitor may taste typical Serbian food, drink local wines and listen to live traditional music till the early morning hours.

Skadarlija restaurants have hosted many celebrities over the decades, such as Alfred Hitchcock, Jimi Hendrix, Josip Broz Tito, King Juan Carlos I of Spain, chess player Anatoly Karpov and many others. Best known kafanas are Šešir moj (This old hat of mine), Tri šešira (Three Hats), Dva jelena (Two Deer), Zlatni bokal (The Golden Chalice), Ima dana (There will be days) and Dva bela goluba (Two White Doves).

The present Skadarlija, a short and curved street, is a remarkable Belgrade tourist attraction. Since 1993, the official opening of the summer season in Skadarlija has been marked by rising a "bohemian flag". The ceremony is always attended by celebrities, including popular and opera singers, actors, and artists.

Beton Hala (Concrete Hall)

Beton Hala (Concrete Hall) stands in 2-4 "Karadjordjeva" street, on the bank of Sava river, and represents the most exclusive part of Savamala. Former warehouses turned into fine dining restaurants and contemporary designed venues located one next to another, attract international attraction. Awarded chefs, signature dishes, industrial and modern interior make this place a must visit in Belgrade, when it comes to both: nightlife and gastronomy.

"?" Question Mark Kafana

The oldest of Belgrade inns, The Question mark, is located in Kralja Petra Street 6 and is one of the symbols of Belgrade.

Erected in 1823 as the property of Prince Miloš Obrenović, it was built by "masters from Grezia" in the Balkans style. It had changed owners and names since 1878. First it was called "At the Shepherd's" in 1878, then in 1892 "At the Cathedral Church" but church authorities protested so the owner put the question mark sign at the door as a temporary solution and it remained there to this day. It housed the first billiards game in Belgrade in 1834 and was the first reading room for the "Serbian Papers" from the same year.

Restaurant "Znak Pitanja" is located in the heart of Belgrade. Its atmosphere and its charm make it an iconic gathering place for Serbian bohemians. The offer of the restaurant includes the specialties of national cuisine and excellent drinks that are simply irresistible. The restaurant also includes two open gardens that offer an ideal ambience for a complete delight. The restaurant's gardens, and also some of the tables in the restaurant, have a spectacular view over Saborna Church. Our recommendation from our offer is all grilled dishes and "Vodencarska Muckalica" (a traditional Serbian dish with meat and vegetables).

Ada Ciganlija

Ada Ciganlija is the most famous summer resort in Belgrade. Once an island, now a peninsula, Ada is the largest, most beautiful and one of the most visited places in Belgrade.

After stepping into Ada, you will enter the world of fun, relaxation and recreation situated in a small, quiet oasis in the midst of the city.

The Lake is surrounded by more than 7 km of beaches awarded with the Blue Flag for the quality of the beach, and offers all possibilities for spending hot summer days in the city.

During summer, Ada Ciganlija becomes like a small city with daily population of more than 100,000 visitors (300,000 visitors during weekend) who come here to swim, run, play all kinds of sports or just enjoy a hot summer afternoon while sipping cold drinks in cafes. In autumn and winter, Ada Ciganlija is mostly desolate, but a beautiful promenade, flanked by cafes and nightclubs. During the winter the lake often freezes, but skating is not permitted because the ice sheet is too thin.

Ada Ciganlija has more than 50 open-air sports fields, including golf course, and cable-ski circuit. There are football pitches, tennis courts, handball, volleyball and basketball courts, as well as baseball, rugby and hockey pitches, also facilities for the extreme sports of bungee-jumping, wall-climbing and paintball.

In addition, numerous restaurants, preserving tradition of the city, offer fish specialties, while bars and splavs in the evenings turn into clubs with all-night entertainment.

Adventure lovers and those who enjoy the nature and outdoor activities will most certainly have fun!

Savamala

No different than Parisian - Montparnasse , Milanese - Cerano Dodici, Navigli District , Berlin - Kreuzberg , Lisabon - Bairro Alto , Istanbul - Beyoglu , Nederlands - The Veemarktkwartier , Helsinki - Kallio and Punavuori , London - Queens Park Design District , New York's - Soho , Savamala District offers a variety of night clubs, bars and cafes, but also is presented as a cultural and design heart of Belgrade, a true district that will boost your brain cells to the max.

Savamala is the synonym for Belgrade's urban culture. Among wide streets, river bank and beautiful old facades, many trendy clubs recently opened as exclusive night-life places, make this neighborhood the hottest district in the City.

Geozavod building is one of the most beautiful buildings in the city, constructed between in 1905 and in 1907 in the spirit of eclecticism with prominent elements of baroque and Art Nouveau. The building is one of the best examples of contemporary Serbian architecture, and today it is a protected monument.

Mikser House is one of Savamala's most prominent venues, a design center and performance space occupying a vast wood-floored warehouse, is a host of annual music event called "Mixer Festival" that gathers thousands of visitors from all over Europe.

KC Grad - serves as a creative hub, moved into the old warehouse which today houses a cafe-bar and shop on the ground floor, along with a large gallery and art library on the upper floor. During "Moda za poneti" (Fashion to go), an event that is being held couple of times during the year, you can treat yourself and your loved ones with an authentic and exclusive gifts.

Gallery12 HUB - The G12HUB program structure combines exhibitions, live performances, streamed events, digital encounters, dialogues, debate, presentations and workshops with the aim of promoting cross media and trans disciplinary approaches to art production and interpretation.

Beton Hala - or Concrete Hall (a name that makes sense once you see the row of white warehouse blocks it describes), stretches along the riverbank and now is occupied with upmarket contemporary restaurants, as well as providing an open waterside promenade during Belgrade's hot summer months.

Saint Sava Temple

The most dominant feature of modern Vračar is the second largest Orthodox church in the world, Temple of Saint Sava. Its construction shaped not just the present appearance of the plateau, but also the skyline of the entire Belgrade and it is visible from most parts of the city.

Plateau has been reshaped in the early 2000s, with fountains, marble access roads to the temple with pillars and children playgrounds added, while the already existing monument to the leader of the First Serbian Uprising, Karađorđe. The plateau is also the location of the National Library of Serbia and Karađorđev Park (Karadjordje's Park), with the craftsmen settlement of Gradić Pejton and the bohemian quarter of Čubura nearby.

Zemun

Once a separate city now famous part of Belgrade for its river taverns and restaurants, specific atmosphere and tasteful dishes made of fish, fresh from the river Danube.

In the Main street is a Homeland museum and Madlenianum Opera and Theatre. On the bank of Danube, Zemunski kej, is a kilometers long promenade, with barges-café, amusement park and formerly largest hotel in Belgrade, Hotel Jugoslavija, now home to Grand Casino. At night, these barges-café are the epicentre of night life, and they are open till dawn.

Gardoš Tower is the most recognizable symbol of Zemun that offers panoramic view of Belgrade and a pleasant rest from the sounds of city traffic. This neighborhood preserved its old looks, with narrow, mostly cobblestone streets and individual residential houses.

The Royal Palace

The Royal Palace was built between 1924 and 1929, on orders by King Alexander I, as the official royal residence. It is designed in the Serbian-Byzantine style, surrounded by pergolas, park terraces, pools, a pavilion, and a concert terrace. Located on the ridge of a hill, it provides a magnificent view of Dedinje, the Košutnjak forest, Topčider, and Avala.

Within the same complex, a residence for sons of King Alexander I had been built and named the White Palace. Its salons are arranged in the styles of Louis XV and Louis XVI and it contains a valuable art collection including notable artworks by Rembrandt, Fromentin, Vouet, Poussin, Bourdau, Jakšić, Meštrović and many others. It also contains the Royal Library that once housed around 35,000 books and the Ceremonial Dining Hall set up in the Chippendale style.

The palace complex also contains the Royal Family Church modeled after the Church of the Monastery of St. Andrew on Treska in Macedonia. Palaces are open for visits on weekends, during the tourist season, as it is a home of His Royal Highness Crown Prince Alexander of Serbia and his family.

Festival of Science

From the very beginning, the essential part of this mission was to bring science closer to non-scientific audience and to provoke interest in scientific work, and furthermore in understanding its impacts in everyday life.

Countless scientific exhibitions, lectures, interactive presentations, well-known contributing lecturers, enthusiastic audience and more than 120,000 visitors from 2007 to the present, are the best proofs that we have succeeded whereas ever growing interest in our programs confirm that we are successfully pursuing this worthy endeavour.

Since 2007 our Festival is a member of European Science Events Association (EUSEA) and in 2015, the EUSEA Annual Conference took place in Belgrade, Serbia, hosted by the Serbia Science Festival.

DINING

Tourist Organization of Belgrade

The cuisine in Belgrade is a rich mosaic of influences and cultures as the city itself - an exciting mixture of Mediterranean, Austrian, Turkish, Hungarian..

Some of the best restaurants can be found in Skadarlija, Belgrade's Bohemian quarter. Expect to find meat of all kinds and in all variations in abundance on the menus - this is not a city for vegetarians - ranging from Serbian sausages and smoked meats to veal, lamb and spit-roasts, accompanied by onions, red peppers and sauerkraut.

Because of its location by two mighty rivers, fish is big in the local cuisine - one of the best ways of enjoying the locally caught carp, perch and catfish being by visiting one of Belgrade's many floating restaurants on Danube and Sava.

Mala fabrika ukusa

The ambient of Mala fabrika ukusa (The Little Factory of Taste) is very pleasant, warm and bright and it reminiscent of grandma's dining room. The walls are decorated with jars and bottles where people usually put homemade juice and jams.

Although the restaurant is oriented towards the national cuisine, you can also order selected international specialties.

Cafe & Factory

The concept idea, to enable the consumers to buy the coffee directly in the factory, and to enable them to taste and drink freshly roasted coffee on that very spot, prepared according to the highest standards of the coffee industry, was launched in Switzerland in 2005. A few years later followed the first square mile project of the Café&Factory in Serbia simply hoping to bring fine, fresh-roasted coffee to the homes of the consumers with the help of one small roaster, new up-to-date equipment and well trained staff who were ready to inform the clients of all the finesses and differences in the approach to coffee, as a product, which was then brought to this region. Since then C&F has evolved considerably, counting 5 retail stores, and hoping to have many more in the future time.

SHOPPING

Tourist Organization of Belgrade

Shopping is part of everyday life for many Belgraders, and a frequent and favorite activity.

The combination of famous international brands and varied and imaginative local products and hand-crafted items, favorable prices and a large selection are the reason why visitors to Belgrade leave with an extra suitcase.

From souvenirs to clothes by our young creators, make your selection among the authentic gifts to remember the city by.

City Center, along Knez Mihailova Street, is the best for shopping. The City Passage shopping centre in Obilicev Venac 18-20 is a must, as is the New Millenium shopping mall in Spasicev Prolaz. Another famous shopping area is the Terazije-Kralja Milana-Slavija stretch, where you will find an abundance of shops as well as the Cumicevo Sokace shopping centre. For an amazing mix of all kinds of goods, head to Bulevar Kralja Aleksandra, Belgrade's longest street, while for a truly exclusive shopping experience, visit the Sava Centar in Milentija Popovica 9 in the Novi Beograd part of town.

Big Fashion Shopping Center

Come and enjoy shopping in more than 100 shops on two levels with the most famous international and domestic brands, as well as a third level dedicated to dining, relaxation, and entertainment, with a great selection of restaurants, 8 cinema halls, a children's playroom and a beautiful view of the Danube river.

BIG CEE Serbia is a part of Big Shopping Centers Israel, which currently holds and manages 58 active shopping centers throughout the world, including 27 shopping centers in the USA and 3 in Serbia.

ACCOMMODATIONS

Tourist Organization of Belgrade

Whether you are planning a vacation, a special weekend or a business meeting, rest assured, you will find a place that appeals to you. Belgrade offers a wide range of accommodation to suit all needs, a diverse collection of modern hotels, guest houses and hostels.

Lobbies of Belgrade hotels are commonly used for making fashion editorials and music videos, for various ceremonies, exhibitions and events, and they often attract guests for their gastronomy offer. From luxurious hotels designed according to the latest trends, over charming small "boutique" hotels, to global chains and those who raised their old glory to another level - many hotels in Belgrade are awarded with prestigious accolades, including "Hotel of the Year" and "Certificate of Excellence", but the most important are those left in the "guest book" or "Trip adviser".

Inspired by the spirit of a modern metropolis, hostels in Belgrade are located in the most attractive places, and are difficult to count. Guests are attracted by their originality, young staff and good prices. From those with inventive "pop art" style décor, to those floating on the water next to the famous "splavs", Belgrade hostel offer is a regular part of all popular global "booking" systems.

Whether visiting Belgrade for business reasons, entertainment, or simply to discover a new destination, guests of the Serbian capital often choose some of the nearly 800 private accommodation facilities mostly to feel, as they say, "like home" ! Pleasant apartments in the city center, "de-lux" flats, and houses in posh parts of the city, private accommodation is one of the best ways to experience unique Belgrade "lifestyle"!

Public transport

The Bus Plus system, the system of payment for public transportation during the day, consists of four options:

1. Buying plastic Bus Plus card that costs 250 dinars and also buying a credit for it.

In this case, one card costs 89din. (time ticket).

It lasts for 1 and a half hour and during that period it is possible to change lines, buses without any extra cost, but each time entering the bus the ticket has to be validated again.

Validation of the ticket is just by pressing the Bus Plus card against the machine that is at each entrance.

2. Buying the paper Bus Plus card.

In that case, there is the 1-day ticket (290din),

3-day ticket (740din) and 5-day ticket(1040din).

That type of ticket lasts from the moment it has been bought and in that period of time (24h, 72h or 5 days) it is possible to change the lines, buses unlimited number of times.

3. Buying a card directly on the bus, from the driver.

It is convenient to have the exact amount of 150 dinars per person or 200 dinars. The ticket is in a form of the receipt that is valid until you exit from the bus.

4. Paying with Mastercard PayPass.

A similar procedure to the one with the plastic card. One ticket is 89dinars and the same procedure has to be repeated, pressing the card against the machine each time entering a bus, changing the lines. It is also valid for 1, 5 hour.

The only difference is that paying with Mastercard PayPass is only possible for 1 person.

There's an option of using one plastic card to pay for more than for 1 person. By choosing the "group card" tab on the screen of the machine before validation.
