In Munich there is so much more than just the Oktoberfest or Lederhosen. The beautiful bavarian capital has much more to offer. A mixture of exclusive shopping, art, culture, indulgence and tradition makes this city unmistakable. Moreover, Germany's most cheerful residents live here.

THE CITY

City of Munich

In Munich, it's the mix that makes the message. Old meets new, past meets present and future, the modern blends harmoniously with the traditional, bits and bytes with beer, business and leisure. For the visitor, there is never any shortage of sights to see or activities to engage in.

The Bavarian Metropolis with its 1.5 million inhabitants lies virtually at the centre of Europe. Munich's origin goes back to an early settlement of monks from the Tegernsee Monastery which was called "ad Munichen" (the monks' home).

The situation leading to its later growth was treated by an act of violence of Henry the Lion, Duke of Bavaria from the House of Guelph. At that time the salt transports coming from Reichenhall and Hallein had to go over a bridge spanning the Isar River at Föhring north of Munich. The bridge passage was accompanied by a toll, and this traffic brought considerable revenue to the Bishop of Freising in whose territory Föhring was located. Henry the Lion had this bridge destroyed forcing the salt transports to use his new bridge a few miles upstream in ducal territory. On June 14, 1158, the new bridge, the market, the customs office and the mint at "Munichen" were approved by imperial decree thus in one fell swoop the monastic settlement assumed a completely different function. The rapidly prospering town was selected by the ruling family of the Wittelsbach in the middle of the 13th century as its Residence due to a territorial split and in 1294 it was granted a new municipal charter. During the reign of Emperor Ludwig the Bavarian - of the Wittelsbach family - the city extended its walls six fold and in 1504 it finally became the capital of the reunited Duchy of Bavaria. Under the 700 years of Wittelsbach reign as dukes, electors and kings Munich attained increasingly the reputation of being a European centre of culture.

Year after year, Munich takes gold in German city rankings. When asked where they would prefer to live, most Germans say Munich. The reason is simple: a magic combination of a vigorous economy and top-notch leisure time activities and outstanding cultural offerings.

DO & SEE

München Tourismus

Munich has come to be associated with the Oktoberfest, the Hofbräuhaus, the Olympic grounds and the Fasching carnival. However, Munich also has an international reputation as a metropolis of both, art and culture. Its music scene ranges from classical to jazz and pop and the many museums display impressive collections.

BMW Welt

Since it opened in 2007, BMW Welt has become one of Bavaria's most popular tourist attractions. Over two million visitors flock here every year to experience the wide range of exhibitions, events, the children's Junior Program and the guided tours.

MUCA Museum of Urban and Contemporary Art

Street art as a form of art of the 21st century is rightly considered as a global celebrated phenomenon, nevertheless street art hasn't arrived enough in the art discourse. The newly build Museum of Urban and Contemporary Art (MUCA) wants to make a change by enrolling street art into art history and by building a bridge between the international art scene, artists and the public.

The idea of MUCA is to bring art and its people together to a place of self-reflection, with the main question of what a visionary museum stands for.

Bier- und Oktoberfest Museum

Munich is the capital of beer - with seven breweries, the world-famous Hofbräuhaus and the Oktoberfest. Interested in knowing more about the brew? Then the Beer and Oktoberfest Museum is for you: here you will learn all about the history of beer, from the great migration to the monasteries, the brewing and the "purity" law of 1516, and the quality of Munich beer. The Oktoberfest also has a long history, beginning as a national holiday to celebrate the wedding of Ludwig I. with Princess Theresa von Sachsen-Hildburghausen and becoming in time the largest folk festival in the world. The museum also shows the interior of a traditional middle-class Munich home.

Christmas Market at Marienplatz

Munich Christmas Market on Marienplatz from Nov 27th to Dec 24th, 2019. When the days grow short and the snow on the roofs of the market booths sparkles in the bright shine of infinite numbers of lights, the Munich Christmas Market around Marienplatz square is at its most beautiful. Every year Munich locals and their guests from near and far are under the pre-Christmas spell of this traditional market whose roots are said to go back to the 14th century.

The Munich Christmas Market is officially opened by the Lord Mayor of the Bavarian capital. Then an almost 100-ft. high Christmas tree sparkles for the first time in the glitter of 2,500 lights. The more than 100 market stands present a range of classical goods: gingerbread and plum men, wooden goods from Oberammergau, South Tyrol and the Erzgebirge mountains, modern and nostalgic Christmas tree decoration, candles, presents, in short: everything that belongs to the Advent season.

DINING

München Tourismus, Picture: Christian Kasper

Perhaps most people associate Munich with beer and there certainly are a lot of breweries and beer halls in the city. But don't miss Munich's classic high-calorie everyday cooking! Haxe is knuckle of pork and it tastes good together with sauerkraut and "Knoedel" (dumplings). We also recommend apple strudel and custard or a Dampfnudel (a kind of cream bun with chocolate or vanilla custard) for dessert.

Paulaner am Nockerberg

Paulaner am Nockherberg is a popular meeting place for Munich locals, no matter where and when - in the beer garden, in the restaurant or during the traditional strong beer festival. The restaurant under the control of Christian Schottenhamel and Florian Lechner opened its doors again after some time of renovation in February 2018. As a new particularity, the beer is now exclusively brewed for Nockherberg's use in brewing kettles situated inside the restaurant in a central room. Also the menu for the restaurant and the beer garden has been revised. It includes Bavarian classics, but also creations of an innovative Bavarian cuisine.

SHOPPING

City of Munich

No city break is complete without a good long stroll through the shops. Munich offers absolutely ideal conditions for a great big splurge: haute couture in the Maximilianstrasse, Theatinerstrasse, Residenzstrasse and Brienner Strasse, department and chain stores in the pedestrian precinct, trendy and flamboyant clothes between many galleries in such town districts as the Gärtnerplatz and Glockenbach area, Haidhausen or Schwabing, Bavarian local costumes, handicrafts and souvenirs in specialist shops, delicacies from all over the world at Dallmayr's or Käfer's, the leading delicatessens in Europe, or at the Victuals Market in the heart of the city. Another typical feature of Munich is the number of small shops that concentrate on a few articles, for example, umbrellas, felt, gloves, candles or wood carvings, and which are still to be found in the centre of town.

Munich's ultra-chic shopping area additionally covers Perusastrasse, Residenzstrasse, Brienner Strasse and Odeonsplatz. You will discover gems in the shop belonging to the Nymphenburg

If you are visiting from a country outside the European Union, you qualify for tax-free shopping with an additional saving of up to 14.5%. OUTLET CITY METZINGEN is the only outlet center in Germany that offers an immediate tax-free refund on site in cooperation with the international financial institution 'ReiseBank'.

*Compared to the manufacturers' former recommended retail price if there is any.

Porcelain factory (Odeonsplatz 1), which has been based in Munich for over 250 years. In the district of purveyors to the court, where not only the Bavarian king was a customer, you can go on a regal shopping expedition - from porcelain, jewellery and select delicacies to high-quality shoes and clothing.

The recently opened "Maximilianshöfe" - Maximilian's court yards - will also carry you off into the world of international design. You can take a break from shopping in the columned hall of the former "Marstall" - the royal stables, as a new restaurant has been established in the classified historical building.

Outside the old town centre, for example in Schwabing, Haidhausen, around the Gärtnerplatz and in the Glockenbach area, the shops - and the customers - are quite obviously more unconventional. The Gärtnerplatz and the Glockenbach district are also ideal shopping areas for gays and lesbians. Shop ateliers, boutiques and concept stores, with many cafés and bars in between that are open during the day, invite you to go shopping, to look and enjoy yourself.

Bargain-hunters are in their element at flea markets and designer outlets, or they amuse themselves in search of curiosities and crockery, junk and antiques at an old Munich institution, the street market-cum-funfair called the Auer Dult (in May, July/August and October).

Viktualienmarkt / victuals market

The Victuals Market, only a few steps from the Marienplatz, displays its fruit, vegetables, herbs, bread, cheese, wine and many other tasty titbits from all over the world, extending an invitation to enjoy its wares with all the senses. Beer gardens, cafés and flowers in a blaze of colour do their best to beguile the visitor.

Next to the Viktuals Markt there is the "Schrannenhalle". It was built under King Maximilian I and was originally a market hall where grains were sold. In 1932 it burned down but was rebuilt with the original wrought-iron frames and reopened in September 2005.

TOURIST INFORMATION

City of Munich

Airport

Munich Airport (MUC) is about 40 kilometres north of the city. The quickest way to get there is by commuter train (S8 or S1), which take respectively 41 and 35 minutes from Hauptbahnhof. S1 starts running at 03.45 and there is one train every twenty minutes until 23.25. S8 starts its first journey at 03.18 and runs every twenty minutes until 00.38.

The Airport-City bus runs every twenty minutes from Hauptbahnhof (Busbahnhof, Arnulfstr.) and takes just over 40 minutes. Please notice, as the bus route goes via the Autobahn, there is heavy traffic every afternoon and it may take up to 2 hours to get to and from the airport. The first bus from the city centre leaves at 05.10 and the last one is at 19.50. Departures commence from MUC at 06.20 (start Terminal 2) and operates until 21.40. A taxi costs about € 60.

M-WLAN: Free WiFi at Munich open spaces

M-WLAN is for residents and tourists - or simply for anyone with a mobile internet device. It's for free and it's fairly easy to use at many well-visited places - for example Marienplatz, Odeonsplatz, Stachus or Münchner Freiheit. Just accept the terms of service (TOS) and go. You don't even have to register. You can simply surf the internet for one hour before you're automatically logged off. If you want to browse a couple of more pages - no problem. Just log right back into M-WLAN.

Rental bicycles

For 8 cents / minute you can discover Munich by bicycle. 1200 bicycles are available at central locations. To use them, you have to download the cost-free app "MVG more" and register once.

Public Transport

There is a large network of underground, commuter trains and buses centered around Marienplatz and Karlsplatz/Stachus. It functions excellently in the inner city and is considerably easier than trying to get around by car. A day pass for the entire MVV network (Münchner Verkehrs- und Tarifverbund) costs € 13,00 and for the central city zone € 6,70. The "Munich City Tour Card" for € 12,90 gives you reductions in some hotels, shops and museums and is valid as a ticket for unlimited travel in the inner city.
